Institute of Business Arbitration Conference

News

This week, a conference organized by the Israeli Institute of Business Arbitration took place, during which the institute's international panel was introduced for the first time. Shai Sharvit presented the international panel at the opening of the conference and subsequently moderated a panel on making Israel an international arbitration center. Eli Cohen was selected to be part of the international panel, and Shai Sharvit will serve as a member of the arbitration institute's appointment committee.
